

A 3D ribbon diagram of a protein structure, colored green. The protein is composed of several alpha-helices and beta-strands, forming a complex fold. A small molecule, represented by a ball-and-stick model with red and blue spheres, is bound to the protein, likely representing a ligand or a cofactor.